Opinion on the Nomination—The "Smoky City" for Hayes—Crop Prospects—Marder of a Former Wheeling Man - Railroad Rates. PITTSBURGH, June 16

Pritsburgh, June 16.

Editors Intelligencer:
The next President of the United States is nominated and all we want is the hearty support of the Republican party to achieve a complete victory over the Democratic nomination.
To-day 5th Avenue is crowded as it has not been since the defeat of Greely in, 72. Every bulletin is read with eager interest by the surging crowd, and as Blaine went up or down you could tell that Pittaburgh was Blaine all through. Onevery ballot the cry would go up "Blaine and Hayes," as to the candidate I must say there were indications of disappointand layes, as to the canadas in the state there were indications of disappointment all along the street. At this writing however we hear cries of "bully for the Buckepe" and see smiles return and considerable jollification on the streets.

BATIFICATION MEETING.

To-night the Republican headquarters will be lighted and a meeting called to ratify the nomination of R. B. Hayes, and when the Lincoln Club returns from Cincinnati we may see a demonstration worthy of old Pittsburgh. 1 heard an old politician to-night say he was willing to put up $500 that Allegheny county would give 10,000 majority in November for Hayes, and judging from appearances at the Club Room I would not be surprised to see her give a much larger one. day advanced there was a decline of b to $\forall form early quotations. Rock Island, however, rose to 109. In the closing hour western shares were firm, while the remainer was steady. The market closed dull but firm. Included in the sales to-day were 3,500 Pacific Mail-255,000 Western Union, 10,000 Northwestern, 21,500 Rock Island, 14,000 St. Paul, 23,300 Lake Shore, and 2,600 Toledo-& Wabash. BUMINESS PROSPECTS.

Business is looking up somewhat, and manufacturers are hopeful of a good fail trade. With the mills in full blast, the workingmen will not desire a change in the administration, and will not hanker after the Olebillallen infant soon to be aroused at St. Louis from its sleep of last fall, which slumber was caused by an overdose of "Hayea," thrown into its stomach while in active training for the show of 76.

The crops are doing well, and the farmers are looking happy. Fruit is abundant, apples especially so. The trees are literally bending with the fruit.

I notice here a very healthy sign of trade in this, that there are a great many substantial stone and iron business blocks being erected along Fifth arenue, Sixth avenue and Wood street. The buildings are large and are, built of stone and pressed brick with open iron fronts.

A POINTER RESIDENT OF WITZELING.

A PORMÉR RESIDENT OF WHEELISO.

Chris. Davidson, a former resident of Wheeling, well known during the war as a whole-souled and bold officer in the Paymaster's Department and at one time engaged to one of Wheeling's fair ones, the daughter of a noted physician of your city, was murdered some weeks ago at Vicksburg by a desperado, who called him out of his boat, shot him dead, and then escaped. We had the pleasure of knowing Mr. Davidson intimately, and always knew him to be a good and honorable man, beloved by every one who knew him. His brilliant flashes of wit have often kept crowds of his courades in good humor. Mr. Davidson was a graduate of an Eastern medical college, and, although he never regularly practiced medicine, many a man has cause to-thank him for timely aid when sick. He held responsible positions during his life, being at one time Assistant Auditor of the Pittsburgh, Ft. Wayne & Chicago railroad, and Traveling Agent of the Pennsylvania railroad, all of which he retired from with honor. As the political cauldron begins to boil we will keep you posted.

Rates still declining, the latest fare on the P. R. R. and B. & O. R. R. is $5.50 to Baltimore, $6.00 to Philadelphia next week, that I think will be the end of the war and it will stay there until the Centennial is over.

In Memoriam—Charles "Jeems' Faulkner.

One of the most pleasing incidents in connection with the recent Democratic convention in West Virginia was the extinguisher it put on the hopes and Sen-atorial aspirations of that old demagogue atorial aspirations of that old demagogue. Charles "Jeems" Faulkner. The party was divided on the assembling of the convention, into two factions, known, respectively, as "Young America," led by Senator Davis, and "Old Fogies," for whom the illustrious Charles "Jeems" stood as principal sponsor. Senator Davis and his associates did his party and the country a real service by repudi-ating the candidacy of Faulkner, with and the country a rear service of reputating the candidacy of Faulkner, with his rag-money ideas, and thereby virtually removing the danger with which the United States Senate and the country was threatened, of having the vain and pompous ohf fossil Charles "Jeems" as the successor of Davis in the Senate.

While we do not profess to be actuated by any great reverence for the present Senator, we would fain see the body of which he is a member preserve its dignity by freedom from the presence of the old coxcomb who aspires to the succession. Faulkner's influence with his party in the House is best represented by a cypher. In the Senate he would only serve to render that body ridiculous by his exhibitions of vanity and his overweening thirst for notoriety.

his exhibitions of vanity and his overweening thirst for notoriety.We would venture a word of advice, however, to Senator Davis in this connection. We know "Charles Jeens" (b be a very crafty, if not altogether an unprincipled politician, and if he (Davis) does not look out sharply his rival for Senatorial honors will yet outwit him by attaching himself to the Senator's faction and "out Beroding Herod" in his advocacy of their schemes. Such was the game he played on the occasion of his first election from the old State of Virginia to Congress. That finfortunate event occurred in the year 1851, when he professed to be a Whig and was run by that party, whom he grossly deevired as a Whig and Ilinon candidate when he professed to be a Whig and was run by that party, whom he grossly deceived, as a Whig and Union candidate against Henry Bedinger, a Democrat, charged with secession prodivities. Faukner's first act to Copyreas wasto vote for Bagley, of Vitamia a Democrat, for Speaker. His next step was to reputate, with Bob. Toombe and Alex. Stephens, the nomination of Gen. Scott for the Presidency and cast himself bodily into the arms of the Democracy. At the expiration of his term Faulkner returned to his constitutents, and knowing the district to be Democratic, and that he had only obtained his election before by reason of his professed Union sentiments, as opposed to those of secession, and that question being no longer before the peofice.

ple, he sought and obtained, it is said, by the most disreputable devices, the nomination of the Democracy, in the advocacy of whose peculiar doctrines he went a bowahot beyond the lifetime members of that party. As a Democrat he was elected again, after which the people, tired and disgusted with him, elected an old Whig and a man of merit—Hon. A. R. Boteler—to succeed him. At the death of Hon. John Y. Mason, which occurred quite unexpectedly about this country at the French Court. The subsequent career of this immaniate patriot is part of the history of the country. With a knowledge of his enemy's antecedents, therefore it becomes Senator Davis to keep his weather eye open, or "Charles Jeems" will beat him at his own game. It is a matter of but little concern to Republicans who the Democracy of West Virginia send to the Senate. It would, perhaps, be much better for the sfirst named if they would fill up the Democratic sests with such as Faulkner. It would, grain the people with the party who sent such effect popinjays to represent it. With an idea, however, of what the Senate should be in dignity and 'respectability, we are impelled to rejoice with Davis, albeit we impelled to rejoice with Davis, albeit we impelled to rejoice with Davis, albeit we
